Van M. Latham, Ph.D., to be Featured in January 2006 Practice Network Column of The Industrial Psychologist and appointed to the Society of Industrial and Organizational Psychology's Professional Practices Committee

NORFOLK, Massachusetts – (October 1, 2005) – PathPoint Consulting, an organizational development and human resources consulting firm, announced that its Practice Leader, Dr. Van M. Latham, Ph.D., will be featured in an upcoming article in The Industrial Psychologist (TIP). In addition, Dr. Latham has also been appointed as a member of The Society of Industrial and Organizational Psychologist's (SIOP) Professional Practice Committee.

In the TIP article, Dr. Latham will share career experiences that have shaped his development as a psychologist and HR thought leader. As a member of the Professional Practices Committee, Dr. Latham will work with other Industrial and Organizational Psychologists to advance the practice of applied psychology and inter-disciplinary collaboration across all branches of psychology.

"I am excited to be featured in TIP and to play a leadership role within our practice," says Van Latham, Ph.D., Practice Leader at PathPoint. "SIOP represents the best our discipline has to offer, and I'm pleased to support the advancement of the Division's goals."

About SIOP

The Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology is a Division within the American Psychological Association and is also an organizational affiliate of APS. The Society's mission is to enhance human well-being and performance in organizational and work settings by promoting the science, practice, and teaching of industrial-organizational psychology. The Division supports SIOP members in their efforts to study, apply, and teach the principles, findings, and methods of industrial-organizational psychology, provides forums for industrial-organizational psychologists to exchange research, insights, and information related to the science, practice, and teaching of industrial-organizational psychology, identifies opportunities for expanding and developing the science and practice of industrial-organizational psychology, monitors and addresses challenges to the understanding and practice of industrial-organizational psychology, promotes the education of current and future industrial-organizational psychologists, and promotes public awareness of the field of industrial-organizational psychology.
