PathPoint Consulting to Write and Produce an On-Line Interactive Training Program on "Writing High Quality Leadership Development Plans" for KB Home

NORFOLK, Massachusetts – (March 1, 2005) – PathPoint Consulting, an organizational development and human resources consulting firm, announced that KB Home has selected PathPoint Consulting to develop an on-line training program to teach managers how to write high quality individual leadership development plans. This new module will be delivered as a part of the company's KB University.

In this assignment, PathPoint will adapt content from a recent presentation delivered by PathPoint as a part of the company's Leadership Forum for high-potentials into an interactive on-line training program. The program is expected to launch in the second quarter of 2005.

"Over the past few years there has been compelling research showing the business and people impact from managers who excel at development," says Van Latham, Ph.D., Practice Leader at PathPoint. "We are pleased to support KB Home's efforts in building their leadership team's capabilities in coaching and developing their teams for improved performance."
